

ARDEN AVENUE BRIDGE

GRADE RECOMMENDED BY THE COUNTY ENGINEERING DEPT.
ACCEPTED

In response to inquiries about the status of the proposed new bridge across the wash at Arden avenue, which it is expected the county and the Pacific Electric Railway will build at a cost estimated at $40,000, City Manager Watson in a recent interview said:

"The County has appropriated $15,000 for the bridge and as there was a question as to its elevation, the matter was taken up with the property holders in the immediate vicinity Monday evening and the Board of Trustees was present. After discussion it was decided that the grade recommended by the County Engineering Department be accepted. That would mean that the floor of the bridge would be 2.85 feet above the present grade of the Pacific Electric road bed.

"In a general way the bridge will be a reinforced concrete structure and will carry both roadways, that of Brand boulevard as well as the P. E. tracks. The approaches will be short, a five per cent. grade. It will be about 150 feet south of the present bridge and the Burbank line will turn off north of the new channel of the wash. This will eliminate all the wooden pile structures at that point including the long trestle of the Burbank line which crosses the wash diagonally between Central and Brand.

"The new channel will eliminate the sharp curve at Brand boulevard. There will be about six feet of clearance under the bridge and a clear space of about eighty feet supported by two piers. It will be about 82 feet long. The cost has been estimated at about $40,000 which will be divided between the Pacific Electric Railway and the County. A large portion of the right of way for the new channel has already been secured by the City of Glendale.

"This is a part of the general plan to straighten out the Verdugo wash channel and protect the banks at the most exposed points, all of which is in harmony with the flood control work of the county.

"Within the city limits of Glendale, for the building of bridges and pile protection work, etc., $55,000 has been spent in the past few years and the channel has been straightened out and at all the most exposed points has been protected in a substantial way.

"The very fact that we come before the supervisors without a dissenting voice about the grade, will insure us against any loss of the appropriation which has been made."

Supplementing the statements of Mr. Watson and in further explanation of the work of the Chamber of Commerce, Mattison B. Jones, chairman of the committee said in the course of an interview concerning the matter:

"At the City Hall in Glendale on Monday evening, the 10th inst., Supervisor Jonathan S. Dodge of this district, Flood Control Engineer Reagan, Bridge Construction Engineer Warrington, and Assistant Engineer Burton of the Pacific Electric Railway, met with the Bridge Committee and other citizens. At that time Mr. Reagan and Mr. Warrington fully explained from their plans and drawings, the absolute necessity, from their view point, of the construction of the bridge at the height mentioned above. PATRIOTIC RESOLUTION

CITY ATTORNEYS' ASSOCIATION PLEDGES SUPPORT TO ADMINISTRATION

Attorneys of Glendale had an important part in the framing of resolutions adopted by the City Attorneys' Association of Southern California at a meeting held Thursday which guaranteed that the services of members would be given cheerfully for any duty to which they might be called in the State and National Defense campaigns which have been outlined by the President. The committee appointed by the Association to draft the resolutions consisted of Albert Lee Stephens, Frederick Baker and W. E. Evans. That the patriotism of the Association may go on record at Washington and Sacramento, a committee of three was appointed to prepare copies of the resolutions to be forwarded to President Wilson and Governor Stephens. Following is the text of the resolutions:

Whereas, this nation is engaged in a righteous war for the preservation of the great principle of self government, the foundation of Americanism, and against the doctrine of government over the many by a few either self-selected or hereditary dictators; and

"Whereas, this association is composed of uncompromising Americans who are desirous of doing all in their power to assist in the great work of the nation; now therefore, be it

"Resolved by this, the City Attorneys' Association of Southern California, that this association shall hereby go on record as expressing its unqualified support to the Hon. W. D. Stephens, governor of the state of California, and leader of the State Council of Defense, and its unqualified support and loyalty to the commander in chief of the army and navy, the president of the United States of America, Hon. Woodrow Wilson; and that this association tenders its services to the governor and to the president, and pledges to them its best efforts in any service that it may have the honor to be appointed to perform; and be it further

"Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed by the president of this body to have copies of this resolution transcribed and forwarded to the governor of the state of California and to the president of the United States.

RISKS OF REGISTRANTS

"Slow! Slow!" is the complaint of Mr. Lanterman of the Exemption Board who reports that registrants are not showing up in the headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce nearly fast enough to satisfy him.

"What will happen if they fail to come in time," the reporter asked. "If they do not come within the seven-day limit they will lose their exemption privileges and will all be listed in Class 1a, where single men without dependents are placed, unless some special dispensation of Providence justifies the Board in modifying the rule.

Messrs. Mackay and Flint were helping at headquarters this morning. Last night they were assisted by attorneys Frederick Baker and Fred C. Burlew. Tonight they will be joined by H. P. Goodwin, E. M. Daniels, F. L. Muhleman, and W. E. Evans.

SUDDEN DEATH

S. S. Evans, formerly living in Piedmont Park, North Glendale, died in his delivery car Wednesday afternoon. He was in the grocery business at 8301 Compton avenue, and had just finished delivering a load of groceries, cranked his car to return to the store and fell over dead. He leaves a wife and one son, Norman. Mr. Evans left Glendale five years ago, trading his Piedmont Park property for an alfalfa ranch, which he traded in turn for the Compton avenue store. The funeral services are to be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the Pulliam undertaking parlors. Interment in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Tribute of Love

W. C. T. U. members will gather at the Pulliam undertaking parlors at 1:45 p. m. Friday to pay respect to the home going of S. S. Evans. Mrs. Evans is a member of the Glendale Union and has long been identified with the organization, was prominent in the flower mission department and an efficient officer, both as secretary and as treasurer. Her sister comrades will lovingly pay this tribute, each one bringing a flower. After the funeral services the regular meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. J. N. Marsh, 211 Cedar street as per Wednesday's notice.

BERLIN REJECTS RUSSIA'S PEACE TERMS

UNOFFICIAL REPORT FROM PETROGRAD DECLARES GER-MANY REFUSES TO CONSIDER BOLSHEVIKI PROGRAM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, December 21.—An Exchange telegraph dispatch from Petrograd asserted today that it is unofficially reported that Germany has refused Russia's peace terms and Bolshevik delegates had been recalled to Petrograd.

This decision, if the report is accurate, will not mean the immediate resumption of hostilities on the Russian front as the complete halting of all fighting for at least a month was agreed upon by a signed armistice between Germany and Russia.

If Germany refuses to agree to the Bolshevik terms it is believed she did so with the full consciousness of her power to force enormous concessions from Russia.

The original Bolshevik peace terms provided for Germany's withdrawal from occupation of islands in the gulf of Riga and the relinquishment of other Russian territory.

SECRET RUSSO-JAPANESE PACT

SOVIET MAKES PUBLIC AGREEMENT SIGNED IN MARCH,
1916, BELIEVED TO STRIKE AT UNITED STATES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, December 21.—The text of a secret Russo-Japanese treaty dated March 3, 1916, providing for an offensive alliance between these two powers against any other power that might attempt to gain political supremacy in China was made public today by the Russian Workmen and Soldiers' Soviet. The statement said it is believed the pact referred to the United States.

MORE DRAFTED MEN TO BE CALLED

LAST INCREMENT OF FIRST DRAFT TO BE IN CANTON-
MENTS BY DEC. 31 IN SPITE OF CLOTHING SHORTAGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 21.—In face of a startling lack of clothing and supplies, thousands of men are to be called to the colors by December 31, Quartermaster General Sharpe admitted today.

This refers to the 25 per cent, the last increment of the first draft not yet called.

There is at present an insufficiency of clothing for the men in the trenches. American troops sent to France are going over in uniforms 20 per cent lighter than those the British and French soldiers wear. A shortage of overcoats is shown also.

JAPAN WOULD OCCUPY SIBERIA

ALLIED DIPLOMATS FAVOR MOVE THAT WOULD PRE-VENT GERMANY DOMINATING ALL THE RUSSIAS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 21.—Japan is anxious to strike at Germany by the occupation of Siberia, according to advices received here. This information coupled with the announcement of a secret treaty between Russia and Japan has created a profound impression in diplomatic circles.

Some allied diplomats favor the Siberian move in view of the possibility of Germany dominating all the Russias even in the east.

ATTACKS CHRISTMAS SHIP

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT OF SUBMARINE TO SINK SHIP
LADEN WITH CHRISTMAS GOODIES IS REPORTED

AMERICAN FIELD HEADQUARTERS, December 21.—An unsuccessful attempt of a German submarine to attack the supply ship laden with Christmas food for the American soldiers in France is responsible for the American force being on the verge of a Christmas without "turkey and trimmings." The vessel is said to have turned back toward the United States following the submarine's unsuccessful attempt.

ATHLETICS IN THE ARMY

NEW YORK, December 21.—Athletics in the army, in the belief of Maj. S. C. Reynolds, who has charge of that branch of service at Camp McClellan, Anniston, Ala., is in a most disorganized state, with the War Department paying little heed to the arrangement of schedules for regular work. He states it from his experience in his own cantonment, with the belief that conditions existing there are the same to be found in every camp.

However, Maj. Reynolds poured forth an optimistic note in speaking to The United Press regarding the progress of athletics in his division.

"We have had intercompany football schedules," he stated, "are now running an interregiment football schedule, and have had hopes of turning out a division team to play other camps."

Maj. Reynolds has had the experience of other instructors in that he has found boxing to be the soul of sports in the minds of his pupils. Spike Webb, an enlisted man in the division, has been appointed boxing instructor and will proceed on the lines laid down in other camps—that of lining up a group for practice and attempting to make instructors of them.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

CLERK AUTHORIZED TO ADVER-TISE FOR BIDS FOR FIRE
BONDS

The minutes of the last regular meeting and of the adjourned meeting were read and a correction ordered to be made to correct an omission to the effect that at the regular meeting Trustee Muhleman made a motion, which was adopted, that when the Board adjourn, it be to meet on Tuesday evening, December 18th. With this correction, the minutes were approved.

A communication was read from Winifred F. Marr in regard to Resolution Number 971, calling the attention of the Board to alleged insufficiency of descriptions contained therein. On motion, the communication was referred to the City Attorney and the City Engineer, with instructions that if necessary, to prepare new proceedings and they should be brought in at the next meeting. On motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that when the Board adjourn it be to meet Monday, December 24th, at 7:30 p. m.

A communication was read from the Lowe Crude Oil, Water-Gas apparatus in reference to appliances for the manufacture of gas; same was referred to the Manager of the Public Service Department.

On motion of Trustee Grist, it was referred to the City Manager.

A communication was read from the Health Officer, Dr. R. E. Chase, stating that in regard to the application for a permit to establish a Neal Institute for the treatment of alcoholics at 104 S. Central avenue, the matter is not within the jurisdiction of the Health Officer, except as to certain requirements for ventilation and space afforded each patient. On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the communication was ordered to be received and filed.

A communication was read signed by Mrs. Louise Joseph and thirty-four other residents and property owners protesting against the establishment of any hospital or sanitarium in the residence district which they represent. On motion, the communication was ordered to be received and filed.

The weekly report of the Tax Collector was presented and ordered to be filed.

In reply to citizens who were present interested in the recent improvement of a portion of Milford street, the Chairman of the Board stated that the members of the Board had examined the improvement complained of, and it had been decided that certain additional work should be done upon the street, after which it would probably be accepted by the City Engineer and after such acceptance thirty days would be allowed for property owners to enter their protests in the matter.

In connection with this matter, the City Engineer presented and read a special report.

The City Engineer suggested the calling of a meeting of East Broadway property owners, for the purpose of discussing the improvement of that portion of Broadway east of Glendale avenue.

On motion of Trustee Grist, the Engineer was instructed to call such a meeting.

On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the City Clerk was instructed to advertise in the Glendale News for bids on bonds authorized at a recent election, the proceeds of which are to be applied for the purchase of appliances for the Fire Department.

On motion of Trustee Jackson, the City Attorney was instructed to take up with the Gas Company the matter of collection from that company of the two per cent of their earnings as agreed to in their franchise.

The City Attorney reported in regard to the opening and widening of Eighth street, that the referee's report had been filed, and the case set for hearing on January 8th next at 10:00 a. m., Department 9.

In regard to the acquisition of a gas plant, he reported that all parties interested as owners or any other similar capacities in the gas company, must be made parties to the proceedings. In order to do this, it is necessary that a list of such owners be secured. He had taken this matter up with three different Title Companies, two of them having stated that the cost for this service would be $250.00. He had also called upon the gas company officials, who seemed willing to furnish this information from their books, and

HONOR TO OLD GLORY

GLENDALE DEDICATES MUNICI-PAL FLAG POLE AND FLAGS
IN BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY

As a beautiful spectacular and patriotic event, the dedication and raising of the municipal flag Thursday afternoon at the corner of Brand and Broadway, was all that it should be. The crowd which filled the street from curb to curb and which included all ages from Kindergarten tots to bearded veterans was responsive and an inspiration to the speakers.

Dr. Henry Harrower

Comrade Robinson called the assemblage to order with the bugle call. Then Doctor Henry Harrower who had been delegated to present the flag to the city fathers, and who deserves all the credit for securing flag and pole, addressed the audience introducing as the special guests of the day, members of the N. P. Banks Post of the G. A. R. who had seats upon the rostrum, which, by the way, though rudely constructed, was beautifully decorated with flags and palms. "These," said he, referring to the veterans, "have shown us the way, have taught us patriotism. We are now beginning to put our lessons into practice."

The doctor then took the audience into his confidence and explained how the idea of a municipal flag came to him and how the thought materialized through the contributions of citizens into the splendid flag pole and the beautiful flag, (not yet fully paid for), and said he believed the patriotism it would stimulate would be worth a great deal more than the $150 it cost. He then mentioned the three flags which are to fly from the pole, first "the flag of the United States of America, the greatest flag on earth." (Applause.)

"This flag" said he, "was donated by Miss Gracia Mosier, who lives in Casa Verdugo, and who should have the credit for her fine deed."

"The second flag is the flag of the American Red Cross, and was made by the ladies of our Chapter with their own hands to be presented to the City of Glendale. It is the second greatest flag on earth. It is the symbol of that phase of the work of this world that takes care of the fellow that is down and out, or hurt. The Red Cross is always ready and always able to help. (Applause.)

"The Red Cross has the machinery, the men and the money and it is using that money in a thousand and one ways that cannot be enumerated today but which are all of the Good Samaritan type. It is the Good Samaritan of the world.

"The Red Cross drive started last Monday and during this week it is intended that membership in the American Red Cross shall be increased by ten millions. Here in Glendale we will have to increase our membership a little. This is a top-notch town. We haven't finished our duty by coming here and seeing this pole dedicated and watching the flags flutter. Our duty has not been done until we have done our best and our best is unlimited. I hope that as a result of the

THINGS TO REMEMBER

The Iconoclast says:

America is at war with Germany. The question of how or why is no longer open for discussion. There is nothing to do for the present but fight.

The reality of war makes it impossible for any American patriot to favor the enemy, in word or deed. His hope, sympathy and assistance must be given to his country.

No German patriot gives his sympathy to America. He is with the Kaiser and for Germany to his last cent and final drop of blood. An American's patriotism should be equally genuine. He may pray for the war to end—he may work for peace—but while the war continues he must fight Germany. Perhaps not on the firing line, but with his money, his voice, his sympathy, his moral influence—his all.

If we were at war with England, the patriotism of our citizens of British birth or recent descent would have to meet the crucial test, now applied to German Americans. Millions of these have met the supreme test and are loyal and true to the republic.

America being allied with England, France, Russia and Italy, the citizen whose parents came from any of these nations may, under present conditions, divide his sympathy, giving the greater share to the country of his fathers, and still pass for a loyal citizen. This brand of disloyalty manifests itself in excessive zeal. Much of his enthusiasm for the war may come, not from supreme devotion to America, but from his love for France, Italy, Russia or England. The German American is denied the same latitude. He is compelled to make a final decision that applies the acid test to his patriotism.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred his presence in America is positive proof that he or his parents preferred American democracy to German autocracy. In all the wars of the republic he has been ever ready to die for America. Much of the military, material and moral glory of America is due to his integrity, devotion, industry and genius. Exceptions prove the rule. The loyalty of the great body of American citizens of German blood, like the virtue of Caesar's wife, is above suspicion. When the roll of our great National Army is called their sons will stand in line with your boys and mine. The casualty lists will attest their patriotism with fire and blood.

METAL PRODUCTION

Protests are heard from many lines of industry against so-called unjust and unfair provisions of the war income tax law and each individual industry feels it is hit hardest.

Undoubtedly in a hasty drawn measure to meet emergency requirements, many discrepancies will be found, and it is within the power of congress to make modifications and changes on shortest possible notice.

Western mining men are presenting their case to congress and the solution so far as mining is concerned is this: Taxes can not be imposed to the extent that metals will not come out of the ground and if war excess profits taxes are at present inequitable in comparison to same taxes in other lines of industry, a speedy change should be made, for taxation which curtails production is worse than no taxation at all, for production at this time is essential above all else and the mines are willing to turn over their entire earnings in support of the government, but they ask that other lines of industry bear a proportionate share of the load.

Price fixing on silver has also been taken up and the general opinion seems to favor no set price, as the present market price is stimulating production in properties which heretofore could not be worked. If price fixing is adopted the price set must be high or production will fall off due to high cost of operation at this time.

Take lead, for instance. The present price of $6.25 would be comparable with about $4.00 in normal times of labor supply, etc. At times past there have been quite heavy production of lead on a $4.00 basis, and this even at times when silver, which is usually combined with lead, was lower in price than at present. So far as lead is concerned, however, it is possible under existing conditions that the government will have to advance the price above $6.25.

In regard to copper everyone seems quite easy.

Nothing has been done yet about fixing the price of silver. The government is fearful of being unable to get sufficient silver for monetary purposes and for that reason will undoubtedly take over its sale, first giving itself and its allies that quantity which they will need for monetary purposes, then giving the balance to the public at a price which probably will be fixed. A scarcity of silver for monetary purposes in the United States and allied countries would be a very serious thing and for that reason any price set should be high enough to insure greatest possible development.—Whittier News.

Swindling promoters are shrewd. Whenever they find any line of industry phenomenally successful they immediately organize fake companies and print lurid literature telling of the wonderful prospects in this line of fortunes that have been made in it and of the opportunity they are giving to small investors to secure a generous income. So we have had automobile, oil, mining, real estate, hotel, plantation and now we are having aircraft schemes, in which the credulous public is invited to put all its loose change.

Why doesn't the public realize that in all these lines of business, the old, well established and dividend paying concerns offer the best opportunities for investment? They never print lurid literature, guaranteeing fortunes and promising extravagant dividends. They are managed by men whose characters put them above this, yet the public will only bite on a bait that is made extraordinarily attractive by promises impossible of performance. Hence the vogue of companies that sell their shares as low as 1 cent each. The man with $10 who can buy a certificate for 1000 shares jumps at the promise held out to him that some day his $10 may grow into $1000. To him it is a lottery, nothing else. And when he loses, as he always does, he goes out on the street corner and denounces the "Wall Street sharks."—"Jasper" in Leslie's.

AROUND THE YULE-LOG

DR. HARRY N. PFEIFFER, Glendale.

Hark! loud and long resounds a song

Of angels' voices sweetly blending. Triumphant heavenly strains are are swelling forth With notes of highest praise ascending, Whilst far and wide responsive echoes ring. Repeating o'er the globe terrestrial

The story of the Christ—the new born King, In tones of harmony celestial.

We pause and listen with attentive ear, The while those matchless sounds are ringing, And catch the message with its meaning clear. Divinely grand amid the singing:

"Fear not, for unto you this day is born!" Ah! blessed words, salvation telling— "A Savior which is Christ the Lord,

Thy Gift, in David's city dwelling."

Oft have we heard the story— old, yet new, How great a boon to all was given,

When in those Eastern lands arose to view The Star of Hope in yonder Heaven

From thence the glorious beams of Light above,— With radiant lustre brighter glowing— Shone streaming with illuminating love, Their blessing to the world bestowing.

Around the Christmas hearth again

we meet, Receiving tokens of affection;

O, may that Gift—the choicest, most complete, Be held in cherished recollection!

An inspiration for the daily tasks,

To struggle on with courage ever,

And give our lives in singleness of aim, Unto our God in true endeavor.

CRIT'S CHRISTMAS COIN

By JEAN ANDERSON

(This pretty story should be of special interest to local readers because it is by a Gardena avenue author).

Abe Crittenden, was a very old man who lived alone in the end house of a row of houses that he owned. The row of houses was known as Old Crit's Row.

Old Crit, as all the folks for miles around called him, was gruff, penurious and not at any time generous, good-spirited, or kind. His tenants all feared him and the children mischievously peeked from behind fences and called to him, "Old Crit, Old Crit, shivers all day and won't buy a mit." At which the old fellow would come from his house and shake his stick.

Old Crit's houses were rented to folks that were as poor as he was rich. Their rents all fell due and payable on the twenty-fifth day of the month and many of the folks who knew him insisted that he arranged the date purposely and they all smiled knowingly and winked to one another when Old Crit hobbled from house to house on Christmas morning to collect what was due him. His step was palsied and he made his way slowly to the doors each month and after rapping on the door with his stick and putting a few more dents in the panel he would ask when the occupant appeared: "Hev y'u got yer rent ready? 'Tis due ter-day and yer know bills what's due must be paid. It's the agreement, yer know." And he would pull from his pocket a piece of paper and hold it in his shaking hand. "Here's yer receipt all signed and ready."

Christmas morning Old Crit would be less harsh and his tone more kindly but the kindness was assumed. "Merry Christmas ter-ye; 'tis a crisp white morning this morning and I hope every body will enjoy it. I do that, I do that." Whereas he would be invited to dinner even if the provisions were not plenty for most of Old Crit's tenants had large families and it was hard to feed even one more, especially one with an appetite like Old Crit's.

One day Ted Steenrod who lived in the fourth house from the end one where Old Crit lived was playing around in the attic. He had been left alone so like all boys Ted liked to prow around in out-of-the-way places. On one of the rafters in the attic Ted picked up a small, dusty package and he put it in his pocket and climbed down through the opening. Then he opened the package and with bulging eyes he stared at the contents.

A few minutes Ted knocked at Old Crit's door and the old man opened it.

"What yer want? Come in. I can't be wasting the heat to warm them hills over there."

Ted stepped cautiously in. It had been the first time he had ever been in Old Crit's house and he sniffed the close hot air.

"Well, I got yer at last yer little ragamuffin, yer the boy what hollers, 'Old Crit, Old Crit, shivers all day and won't buy a mit,' ain't yer?"

"Yes sir," answered Ted, "but I come to see you about something more important, Mr. Crittenden."

"Important is it? Well it better be important fer I got yer," and Old Crit shook his stick threateningly.

"Mr. Crittenden, you used to live in our house—"

"Yer ain't got no house. They're my houses understand, my houses," Old Crit interrupted for he was also a very jealous man.

"I mean the house we live in," Ted apologized.

"Yes, what about it? Go on, go on," Old Crit insisted impatiently while an anxious look flamed into his pinched eyes.

"Were you ever up in the attic of that house?" asked Ted.

The old fellow rose from his chair and he stood directly over Ted. A strange look, not unlike that of a fish in a glass case, came over him for his eyes, pinched as they had been for years, opened wide.

"Tell me," he said, "Tell me, did yer find a little package on a rafter up thar?" he asked anxiously.

"Is this it?" said Ted holding the little folded paper.

Old Crit's shaking hands reached and took the paper. He opened it slowly. "'Tis mine, I tell yer. I put it there nigh on twenty year ago. It is Christmas money I saved before I got rich and I blamed fergot it. I saved it so my boy what's long since dead would have an ideal Christmas. Yer honest boy, yer honest that's what y' are, and we'll have that ideal Christmas now. Day after ter-morrow is th' day and I want yer to help me with it. Yer honest and I can trust yer to do it. I want yer to get all the boys what calls 'Old Crit, Old Crit, shivers all day and won't buy a mit' I want to show them that Old Crit's just getting old and's jest forgetful-like. Not that he means it Ted. It's just old age a crawling on ter me, that's all. Makes me forget like. I don't mean ter be hard on my tenants er the boys. You'll help me wont yer?"

"Yes sir," said Ted, "I'll help all I can."

"Well help me with my great coat, we'll go first and change this gold piece. It's fifty dollars and the date is 1877. It's an old one all right and the man at the bank 'll say Old Crit's a miser—he! he! but he ain't Ted. It's old age bringing on forgetfulness, that's all."

"You wont forget to change it will you—or your mind?" asked Ted with a twinkle.

"Nuh sir," said Old Crit, "but yer the boy what made up that 'Old Crit,

"Tis an ideal Christmas, 'Tis an ideal Christmas," said Old Crit on Christmas morning when he went about from house to house, sniffing the good things he had given away. THE PIG'S FOOD HABITS

We must all (says the Pall Mall Gazette) make our apologies to the pig, who has been grossly maligned in regard to his food. Instead of being ready to eat anything, he turns out to be the most fastidious of animals. Experiments have been made in France and Sweden which show this to be the case, and in the latter country the record tells us that out of 575 plants the goat eats 449 and refuses 126; the sheep out of 528 plants eats 387 and refuses 141; out of 494 plants the cow eats 276 and refuses 218; out of 474 plants the horse eats 262 and refuses 212; and the pig out of 243 plants eats 72 and refuses 171.

JUDGE LOWE REPLIES

December 20, 1917.

Mr. A. T. Cowan,
Owner, Publisher and Editor,
Glendale Evening News.

Dear Sir: Directing your attention to a communication in your paper of December 17th wherein "Committee of Taxpayers and Business Men," i.e. S. C. Packer, F. J. Kuntzner, J. E. Phillips, Howard W. Walker and Clinton L. Booth, made an attack upon Traffic Officer Hollenbeck, permit me to say that Mr. Hollenbeck is only responsible in part for the alleged horrible condition of affairs pictured by the above named gentlemen, and as a matter of justice and fair play, should not be asked nor expected to shoulder any more than his share of responsibility in this matter.

On January 4, 1915, Mr. Hollenbeck was duly appointed a police officer of the City of Glendale, and thereupon subscribed to the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the State of California, and that I will faithfully perform the duties of police officer of the City of Glendale according to the best of my ability."

A search of the records and a close inquiry into Mr. Hollenbeck's acts since that day fail to disclose any instances of record wherein Mr. Hollenbeck has disregarded his oath of office. Upon investigation, I find during the first year and half of Mr. Hollenbeck's term of office, by reason of his inexperience and lack of knowledge, that possibly in some instances he may have been indiscreet or injudicious in some of his acts. The statement referred to, however, deals more particularly, not with the indiscreet acts as alleged prior to or during his first year and a half of employment; but with his activities as traffic officer of the City of Glendale.

For the benefit of those people who would be misled and who would be very apt to become prejudiced by reason of the publication of the article referred to, I beg to call your attention to the fact that prior to the first day of August, 1917, complaints coming into the Police Department of the City of Glendale with reference to the indiscriminate and wanton violation of the traffic laws, were numerous, and from all parts of the city.

The members of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, realizing the necessity for taking some action to curtail the propensities of many of the citizens of Glendale, and more particularly those of citizens of nearby towns to violate the law, authorized the expenditure of approximately $400 in equipping the Police Department with a motorcycle, with the main object of curbing speeding and safeguarding the lives of the citizens of this community.

The position of traffic officer was not sought by Mr. Hollenbeck; to the contrary he expressed a strong dislike for the work, knowing then and knowing better now, that any man holding the position of traffic officer and who did his duty under the law without fear or favor, would become unpopular, and would be a subject of attack on the part of the violators of the law and their friends whom they might be able to influence in their behalf.

It is needless to state as to the number of arrests having been made since the purchase of this machine on or about the first day of September, 1917. The records of this Court will show to interested parties, the number, as they will also show that at least ninety-five per cent. of all of the parties cited to appear for violation of the traffic laws of the State of California, have pleaded guilty thereto. In a large number of instances, those so arrested took a broad view of the situation, philosophically paid their fine and dismissed the matter from their minds. Others, as is customary with many people when caught in committing overt acts, offered in extenuation thereof very frivolous and weak excuses, thereby hoping to escape responsibility.

In many instances, those who were arrested and brought before this Court and were fined for their offense, in a many open manner complimented Mr. Hollenbeck upon his method of making the arrest, stating that he had done so in a gentlemanly dignified manner, was absolutely within his rights, and that no prejudice had been created in their minds by reason of his attitude toward them.

Quoting from the fourth paragraph of the article under discussion—"First offenders are dealt with as severely as persistent violators, which is not the custom in other nearby places. Traffic officers in Los Angeles are taught to educate and not to prosecute. let alone persecute." Permit me to state, that the merest tyro knows that the arresting officer has nothing to do with dealing with the offender after the arrest is made other than to furnish evidence; the punishment for offenses lies wholly and solely with the Magistrate before whom the offender is brought and in no instance since I have been the Judge of the Recorder's Court of the City of Glendale has Mr. Hollenbeck, nor any other policeman, nor any official of the City of Glendale presumed or undertaken to indicate to me the punishment to be meted out to those who are brought before me.

If necessary, however, I can, and possibly will, at the proper time and under proper conditions, recite instances where other people have sought to influence my judgment, strictly, however, without success, and permit me to say at this time that in the future, as well as in the past, all such attempts will meet with ignominious failure. I am perfectly willing to assume, by reason of the fines and the penalties inflicted in my Court, full responsibility for any injury to the feelings of those who think they have been injured, or to the business interests of the City of Glendale, and have no apology to make in any instances or under any conditions for any acts of mine.

While the communication above referred to is addressed to the Honorable Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, I feel that there was covert intent to reflect upon this Court, and that is why this communication is written. Having made up my mind to reply to the article referred to, with a desire only to be fair and just, I made it a point to interview three of the parties whose names are signed to that statement, viz: Mr. J. E. Phillips, Mr. H. W. Walker and Mr. Clinton L. Booth.

Mr. Phillips very frankly stated that he held a decided prejudice against Mr. Hollenbeck by reason more particularly of acts committed by him outside of his duties of Traffic Officer.

Mr. Walker informed me that this petition was presented to him by Mr. Packer with the statement that it was a little petition that did not amount to anything and that he signed it without a full knowledge of its contents or of its import that after reading the article on the day of its publication, he was filled with mortification and shame; that he considered that he had committed the most contemptible act that he had ever committed in his life; that he had apologized to Mr. Hollenbeck, would apologize to me and was prepared at any time to make any reparation in his power for the injury he had unwittingly done to a man who had never done him any wrong or harm, adding that he had no idea that the document was intended for publication.

Mr. Booth stated to me that he did not have a complete knowledge of the contents or the import of the document; that he signed it upon the request of Mr. Packer with the express understanding that it was not to be published or given publicity; but was to be presented to Mr. T. W. Watson who is also made a subject of this unwarranted attack.

If there are any wrongs being inflicted upon the citizens of this community, or of any other community by this Court, or by Mr. Hollenbeck, or any other officer of this Court, or by Mr. Watson, or any other official of the City of Glendale, there should be and there is a remedy; that remedy, however, does not consist in the publication of meretricious attacks.

It appears to me to be an act of great presumption on the part of the signers of the so called protest to claim to be a "Committee of Taxpayers and Business Men," in view of the fact that the representative business men of Glendale were not a party to the protest and are unquestionably opposed to such questionable methods. "If the business men and property owner and even visitor" were not talking prior to the publication of the so called protest, and but very few of them were, they are doing so now, and in strong terms of condemnation of the two or three men who are responsible for the preparation, circulation and publication of the article referred to.

You are aware, Mr. Cowan, of the fact that there has been a studied effort to educate the people of Glendale with reference to the traffic laws and to the ordinances of the City of Glendale, prior to and since the acquisition of the motorcycle, by the City of Glendale. You have published articles in your paper calling the attention of all those interested to the new California Vehicle Act, some of the articles having been furnished by Mr. Butts of the Monarch Company, others over the signature of T. W. Watson. Those articles were prepared and presented with the express desire and thought that by reason of their publication, it would be unnecessary to have prosecutions for the violation of the law. The records, however, prove how futile were these attempts, as will the article of Dec. 17th signed by "Committee of Taxpayers and Business Men," prove how determined some people are whether right or wrong to accomplish their ends.

"In conclusion and with reference to the statement that the traffic officers in Los Angeles are taught to educate and not to prosecute, let alone persecute," permit me to state, that I challenge Mr. Packer to cite any instances wherein there has been by Mr. Hollenbeck, or by myself in this Court, and persecution of any citizen of Glendale or elsewhere.

Yours very truly,

F. H. LOWE,
City Recorder.

The Red Cross food sale and luncheon will be held at the headquarters, on Brand boulevard Saturday. Contributions of food of all kinds are earnestly desired. Do your bit in his line. For any desired information regarding contributions needed call Glendale 839-M.

VETERANS TO ENTERTAIN

Members of the N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., are quite excited about a dinner they are to give December 28, for members of the Woman's Relief Corps, in return for their generous hospitality, for the ladies regularly serve a monthly dinner at which the comrades gather and renew old experiences. The reporter was not able to learn just what the program will be, as it is not yet completely outlined, but it will be something fine and so will the viands, as the veterans wish to make it a function of which they can be proud.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES AND RECEPTION

The annual Christmas exercises of the First Congregational church will be held Saturday evening, December 22d from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. Immediately following this, from 9 till 10 o'clock a farewell reception will be given Dr. and Mrs. Willisford. All the members of the congregation will of course be present and all the ministers of the city and their wives have been invited and are expected to be on hand. The many personal friends of Dr. and Mrs. Willisford not members of the congregation are also given a cordial invitation to be present.

STAG DINNER

A pleasant surprise greeted Dr. E. H. Willisford last evening when he was summoned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. MaRae, 1545 Myrtle Street. There he found six old and tried friends, Messrs. Blake Franklin, S. R. Frazee, Chas. Van Dyke, W. H. Yarie, A. R. Chappell and Dr. Teel. A bountiful full course dinner was served at 7. The place cards were decorated with U.S. flags and in the center of the table was a miniature tent surmounted by a flag and bearing the letters Y. M. C. A. After the dinner the hours were pleasantly whiled away with conversation and music.

VETERANS' DAY

Thursday was Veterans' Day as well as Flag Raising Day in Glendale, for thirty old soldiers were guests of honor at that ceremony. The list included Comrades C. H. Clark, I. J. Spafford, T. D. Haman, A. H. Wheat, William McElhanon, J. A. Thayer, J. J. Weiler, J. M. Graham, David Colner, C. A. Pierce, R. N. Taylor, C. R. Norton, R. L. Foster, M. C. Goodsell, H. C. Toman, T. A. Robinson, U. H. Emich, George W. Sanford, R. D. Goss, S. Houdyshell, A. S. West, W. G. Collins, A. H. Guernsey, W. Catt, Jack McElroy, T. C. Stern, T. M. Barrett, O. H. Jones, Oscar Pecoy, Tom Gillette.

CHRISTMAS DRAMA

The Christmas program of the First Methodist church will be given this, Friday, evening, at 7:30 o'clock. This program will be in the form of a Christmas drama entitled "The Story of Bethlehem." Portions of this story are interpretations of early peoples' drama, folk and ecclesiastical song. Some of the musical numbers are from old choral collections. "The Angel Lullaby," is from an old Bavarian Mystery of the XVI century. "Rejoice Jerusalem" is an antiphonal chant of one of the old religious brotherhoods. The whole program is full of the spirit of the Nativity plays of the early centuries.

The scenes presented have their inspiration in the Gospel narratives of the Nativity. The episodes and the music blend into a beautiful harmony. Because of the character of this Christmas program it will be something unusual.

The school will follow to its usual custom of bringing gifts of clothing, groceries, vegetables, canned fruits, etc. which will later be distributed where needed. The monetary offering of the various classes of the school will be turned over to the Armenian-Syrian Relief commission.

On Sunday evening the choir will render the oratorio, Gaul's "Holy City."

MRS. RIPLEY ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Noble Ripley, of Labree Court was hostess at two pretty Christmas functions. Wednesday evening she entertained the Round Table Girls, and the Ripley home was made very Christmasy for the event. A beautiful Christmas tree studded with tiny electric lights and hung with glittering decorations was a center of interest and together with the open fire furnished the soft glow by which the room was illuminated, all other lights being turned out. The dining room was a winter scene with a huge snowball centering the table and ice crystals and snow depending from the chandelier.

Each guest brought a gift and the device employed by Mrs. Ripley to secure their proper distribution was to divide advertisements, placing one-half of an ad. with the gift and giving the other halves to the girls who found their presents by matching the advertisements. No formal entertainment was provided, just a social and delightful good time. Refreshments of the Christmas stocking order, apples, nuts, candy, etc., were served.

The following evening Mrs. Ripley entertained members of the "Lucky Thirteen" the party having the same pretty setting. These guests also brought gifts which were parcelled out by still another clever device invented by the hostess. The first half of familiar verses of poetry were written on twelve slips which were attached to the gifts. Then the other halves of the verses were placed in twelve little bags, one for each guest. The bags were tossed into the air and the girls scrambled for them, matching up the divided verses and thus winning their gifts. At this party there was a Mother Goose contest in which Miss Vera McPherson won the prize, a narcissus bulb and bowl. Salad and coffee, apples, candy and nuts were served as refreshments.

FOOD AND COAL SHORTAGE

Mrs. Boyton, of Philadelphia, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. H. Sullivan, of San Fernando boulevard for a few days, testifies to the shortage in the east of many commodities we have regarded as the necessities of life. At the time she left home, grocerymen were not allowed to sell more than two pounds of sugar to a customer a week. To get more than a ton of coal the buyer had to file with the dealer a doctor's certificate that it was necessary. This seems a strange condition in that country of vast coal fields, but citizens she said, are agreed that the war ships must be supplied first and cheerfully sacrifice their comfort. In Omaha where Mrs. Boyton stopped for a few hours en route, there was also great shortage of coal with the thermometers registering 25 degrees below zero. Travelers had to walk up and down the station to keep warm, as only a small fire was kept burning. Mrs. Boyton came to California on account of the delicate health of her little son, and also to have a visit with relatives from whom she has been separated for years. She plans to remain about six months, and the baby has announced that he wants to stay always.

DEATH OF JOHN CLARK

John Clark, who has been a familiar figure on the streets of Glendale for many years, though crippled by paralysis, and who was known as "Daddy Clark," is dead. He was of very independent character and was accustomed to get about in a wheeled chair which he was able to operate himself, going anywhere and everywhere without regard to traffic. A few months ago a Pacific Electric car collided with his chair at Third and Brand and since then he has not been on the streets as before. He died December 19th and was sixty-three years of age. He was alone in the world in so far as relatives were concerned, for he had none, but he made friends and was much respected in the community. Funeral services will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Jewel City Undertaking Parlors, and interment will be made in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

SIXTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster of 510 Central avenue, in Tropic, were delightfully surprised and entertained last Friday night. They were invited to Los Angeles by friends who belong to the church of which the Websters have been members for many years, viz., the Church of the First Day Adventists on Woodman street. On arriving at the church they found about one hundred and fifty of their friends who had gathered to celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary. Though immensely surprised, they were not too overcome to thoroughly enjoy the happy occasion which included a very nice program of speeches, readings and songs. Then there was a supper in which a wedding cake had the place of honor, and some very pretty gifts were bestowed upon the happy pair as mementoes of the occasion and of their long and happy wedded life.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

A very pretty affair was the children's Christmas party given at the home of Mrs. L. E. Richardson on Brand boulevard, by the Tropic Thursday Afternoon Club. Associated with Mrs. Richardson as assisting hostesses were Mesdames Mary Ayers and J. Herbert Smith.

In the center of the foreground was a beautiful Christmas tree which touched the ceiling, radiant in its pretty decorations. It was not all glitter, either, for there was a bag of candy and a bright red apple for every one of the forty guests. There was also a very nice program made up of the sort of things children enjoy. Mrs. Stewart sang "Holy Night," and Mrs. Eustace B. Moore gave several child recitations, which the children liked very much. Helena Richardson, daughter of the hostess, contributed a piano solo which was beautifully played, and a little girl from Highland Park whistled charmingly. As a closing number, everybody sang America. Then the mothers were served to tea and wafers.

 Let's help the Knights of Columbus
 And show that united we stand,
 One for the Freedom of Nations—
 One for our Native Land.
 This is no time for smallness,
 When the sword of the Race is drawn—
 Let us go forth as one to the battle
 That the march to our goal may go on.

Let's help the Knights of Columbus
 In the work they are planning to do
 For the good of our soldiers and sailors—
 Let's help them to carry it through
 For, when we sow for the harvest,
 The seed counts more than the pod;
 Our cause is bigger than sect or creed—
 As big as the heart of God.

The riddle fiend announced:
 "If I take two letters from 'money' 'one' will be left. Curious isn't it?"
 "Very," drawled the bored friend,
 "but I can tell you something more curious."
 "What's that?"
 "A friend of mine took money from two letters, and now his wife and family are left."

WINNING THE WAR

The American people have not refused anything that is needed for the war.

The government asked them for 1,500,000 men, and the men are in the camps or on the fighting line.

It asked for ships, and $2,000,000,000 worth of ships are under construction.

It asked for money, and money has been forthcoming with absolutely no stint.

And now it is asking for food, and out of their wealth the American people will give food as generously and effectively as they have given everything else needed in connection with vigorous prosecution of the war.

Food makes the most direct war contribution, apart from men—one that touches every home every day.

Next to men it calls for the greatest changes in normal life and personal habits.

The American people have changed their money habits and are buying bonds; they have changed their ways of thinking about ships, and are building a mercantile marine; they have changed their views of peace, and are giving their men for the establishment of a real world peace.

And they are changing their habits in food. They eat corn instead of wheat, poultry instead of beef and pork, and are saving sugar and fats.

It has taken a little longer to organize this war contribution of food, chiefly because the matter was more complicated than other war contributions, and had to be brought home to more people.

TO PROTECT FOOD IN TRANSIT

To reduce losses of foodstuffs in transit, the Bureau of Markets of the United States Department of Agriculture is studying methods of proper refrigeration and adequate heating of freight cars. The experience of potato shippers last winter when large quantities of a high-priced food crop were damaged by weather emphasizes the need of better methods of winter protection for cars loaded with perishable foodstuffs. Pending the adoption by the railroads of more efficient and economic equipment, efforts are being directed in cooperation with the carriers for utilizing to the best advantage this winter existing methods of heating.

Only the fact that Americans refuse to believe in even a remote connection between the Divine Being and the Kaiser, prevents many from believing that St. John painted the picture of Germany's ruler in the thirteenth chapter of Revelation. Those who do believe the description fits the Kaiser exactly are sure that the tenth verse, where it reads "he that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword," will apply equally well.

sells the NEW EDISON exclusively for the same reason you should buy it!

—because it is overwhelmingly the BEST—literally the ONLY instrument that really REPRODUCES

WITH any and ALL other makes of phonographs unpreservedly open to us for sale, we have eliminated all but the NEW EDISON, staking our financial success as well as our musical judgment upon this ONE instrument.

The NEW EDISON claim to superiority is not based on empty advertising "talking points" cleverly represented—but upon one of the most wonderful inventions ever made by the greatest inventive genius that ever lived—an invention that all but duplicates the human throat.

This marvelous invention, the secret of "Music's Re-Creation," is the NEW EDISON Reproducer, by which Mr. Edison has succeeded, after five years' experimenting and $2,000,000 expenditure, in completely eliminating the blight of mechanics—the tell-tale twang of the "talking machine."

The Difference Between the NEW EDISON and a "Talking Machine"

The "talking machine" reproducer is made of steel and mica, with their metallic resonance. The result is metallic and mechanical.

The NEW EDISON Reproducer is made exclusively of non-metallic substances—diamond, silk, cork and vegetable texture—the result is tone as pure and lifelike as the original that came from the throat of the singer.

Why You Should Buy YOUR NEW EDISON Only at FITZGERALD'S

Why you should buy the NEW EDISON is plain—and will be plainer when you hear the instrument. But there is an equally good reason why you should buy the NEW EDISON only at FITZGERALD'S.

This firm is the largest exclusive Edison dealer in the Southwest, and as such can give you the very best terms, and has a larger stock of instruments of all grades and prices and a larger stock of the latest records for you to choose from.

Furthermore, the permanency and absolute trustworthiness of this big institution insures you absolute satisfaction not only at time of purchase, but in later years, because we give—

DAILY DELIVERIES

LIBRARY NOTES

A large number of the new books ordered by the Tropico Library Board at their last meeting have already been delivered and are being accessioned by the Librarian. The lot includes some of the choicest books the library has ever purchased and something to suit all tastes.

A beautifully illustrated edition of Mark Twain's "Prince and Pauper" and by the same author his posthumous work "A Mysterious Stranger." are to be noted, while the resurrected Sherlock Holmes appears to make "His Last Bow" and show his prowess in connection with the Great War.

A French Soldier's Letters to his mother will delight everyone. He is a young artist and tries to see the beautiful in life even in the midst of such horrible conditions. All will want to read Gerard's "Four Years in Germany." To read "Vagabonding Down the Andes" by Frank is the next best thing to making a tour of South America.

California fruits, California vegetables and California garden flowers all by Wickson will be valuable works of reference in these days of conservation. Four delightful volumes of Van Dyke are "Days Off," "The Ruling Passion," "The Blue Flower," and "Out of Doors in the Holy Land."

"A Son of the Middle Border" by Garland, is an autobiographic story of great interest and historic value. "A Reversible Santa Claus" by Nicholson is a good Christmas story. The library has many other stories suitable to Christmas and the Librarian will take pleasure in helping anyone in their selection.

Some of the other books of fiction are: Bromley Neighborhood, Fish-ping, Green Tree Mystery, Extricate Obadiah, The High Heart, The Green Jacket, Indian Drum, Fanny Herself, The Major, His Own Home Town, Our Square and the People in it, Laughing Bill Hyde, and Michael Brother of Jerry, Red Indian Fairy Book, Choke-cherry Island, and the Plattburghers are some good juveniles.

Eat and Grow Thin by Vance Thompson, Private Pete and Beloe's Second Phase of the Great War complete the list.

TUJUNGA

The meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Monday evening, Dec. 17 at the school house. There was a nice attendance, and reports of different committees were given and accepted. Three new members were added to the roll. A report from Supervisor Dodge to the effect that some work would be done on both Sunset and El Centro roads to put them in better shape as soon as we had some rain to soften the surface. The water question was fully discussed, as well as the advisability of taking over the system. Some favored the district water system, others the incorporating of the town first and then handling it. This brought about more discussion in regard to incorporation, and was finally left for another time, or until all members had fully considered it. A letter from Mr. Lynch, of Glendale to the president on the municipal ownership of utilities showed plainly the advisability of such procedure as our neighbors of Glendale have proven. It was further decided that the members of the Board of Trade should have a social evening on the Tuesday evening following the first Monday of each month.

News was received of the passing of Mr. Everstage of Los Angeles, who had occupied the Haverstick house for about six months.

Mr. Rose of Sawtelle, was in the village Tuesday, looking after the interests of his bee colony. Mr. Brack of Monte Vista Heights is offering his apiary for sale, as other business interests prevent him from attending to them.

The workmen on the State Highway began their work last Sunday noon, and have plowed up the road from Begue's to Pine street.

Mrs. Ed Greenfield and daughter, have gone to Los Angeles, for a time and are with Mrs. Maygrove and family.

An all day sewing bee was held at Bolton Hall on Thursday December 13, to make garments for the French Red Cross Relief. Thirty-three ladies were in attendance, and kept four sewing machines as well as their own nimble fingers busy. About 25 garments were all or nearly completed. Each lady brought her own luncheon. After luncheon Miss Benedict, Secretary of the Red Cross here, gave in a report of the work done since last July, which totaled some 400 pieces, aside from the thousand candles. The resignation of Miss Julia Culver as sergeant of the auxiliary, was read and acted upon. Mrs. Dean and Miss Benedict were selected to interview the Pasadena Red Cross in regard to more work, as per agreement, with the auxiliary, meanwhile the ladies would still continue to make and remodel garments for the French Red Cross Relief. Another all day meeting will be arranged for later.

Mrs. Maygrove and Constance, were in the village on Wednesday.

One or two fires have been started in different portions of the community the past week. It seems hard to convince people of the danger we are in here in case of fire with no fire apparatus and twelve miles from the nearest. Never in the history of the valley has it been so dry and fires on every side of us make it doubly necessary to be cautious.

The new Episcopal church has just received a coat of paint and looks fine. The school house is also receiving its share during the vacation, which lasts for two weeks until Dec. 31st.

THE FULL FRUITS OF LIFE

Don't laugh at that word efficiency! It has covered a multitude of sins, we know, and it has been paraded before our eyes until it is somewhat warped. Many things absolutely wrong have masqueraded under its protecting wings. It has been terribly abused. It has been bandied about until it is denied. All of us have taken a hand at abusing efficiency sometime or other.

But don't laugh at it just because we abuse it. Don't discard it just because it was used to denote a new era in our lives that meant the passing of old customs and manners.

Don't laugh at efficiency, because it is too valuable.

It is popular to sneer at that word just now, but this popularity comes because we have been mistaken about its meaning and, therefore, we have abused it.

No matter whether we like to think so or not, efficiency represents just what we need these days more than ever. It is a word for energy and effort. It represents work. It represents honesty. It represents better things.

Don't laugh at efficiency. It means too much. And, too, he who sneers at it shows a lamentable weakness. Don't do it. Efficiency represents the full fruits of life. Get them. Be efficient. Strive for efficiency. It will never injure anyone.—Ex.

DISAPPOINTMENTS

Have you stayed at home all afternoon, some time, waiting for some one who had said: "I am coming over this afternoon," then she did not come? Has some one promised to do something for you, then didn't do it?

It has happened to me more than once or a dozen times, writes Helen R. C. Temple. And every time it happens, it makes me "mad!" Angry sounds altogether too mild to express my feelings. When you go to the window about forty times to see if "they" are coming, or when you have planned to have a roast for supper and you have asked some one to get it for you, and they did not, how do you feel?

Take a lesson from your feelings and when you said you were going to do something, do it. If you are not positive that you can do something, don't promise. One of the most disappointing things in life is when some one does not come, when he had said he would, or when some one promises to do something and does not. This life is full enough of other sorrows without doing something like that.

TWO TYPES OF ELEPHANTS

There are two distinct types of elephants—the African and Indian. The former have developed the largest animals and are quite different from the Indian type, having only four visible toes on the rear feet, as against five in the Indian, the ears are very much larger and the spinal ridge of the African shows a marked hump or rise, beginning at the hips, whereas the Indian elephant's back slopes gently downward from this point. The African defies the fiercest sun, while the Indian lopes away from it to the heaviest, coolest shade.

The age of elephants is widely disputed, the best calculations of hunters and scientists being admittedly only a little more than hazards.

Sir Samuel Baker, an authority, states the average life of an elephant to be about 150 years. It is exactly known that elephants have lived in captivity for 130 years. Naturalists believe, however, an elephant's life in the wild state to be twice as long, according to a recently published book called "The Elephant."

GO TO WORK; AND GO NOW!

No man has a right to refuse to work when idleness makes him dependent on others. If half a dozen men are camping in a wilderness and one of them refused to cook, or fish, or hunt, or do anything except sleep and eat the food the other procured and prepared, the majority of five would tell the recalcitrant minority of one to go to work or shift for himself. In small groups men will stand no nonsense of that kind.

The same rule applies to men in the mass. The Bible contains the first law on the subject, that every man shall eat his bread in the sweat of his brow and the same principle has been incorporated in the laws of all nations since then. Today thousands of I. W. W.'s and other loafers refuse to work and bully or cajole others into supplying their wants though there is work for all at the highest wages ever paid in settled communities. Sometimes they try to prevent others from working, their avowed aim being to reduce all mankind to that dead level of hand-to-mouth existence which is the mark of barbarism. They talk about the natural rights of man. The hundred million who live in the United States have the same natural right to force vagrants to work or starve that the five campers would exercise to discipline their lazy companions.—New York Commercial.

FORGET IT

If you see a good fellow ahead of a crowd,

A leader of men, marching fearless and proud,

And you know of a tale whose mere telling aloud

Would cause his proud head to in anguish be bowed,

It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know of a skeleton hidden away

In a closet, and guarded, and kept from the day,

In the dark, and whose showing, whose sudden display

Would cause grief and sorrow, and life long dismay,

It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know of a thing that will darken the joy

Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy

That will wipe out a smile, or the least way annoy

A fellow, or cause any gladness to cloy,

It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

—FRANK BOOTH,

1005 W. Broadway.

IDEALS ABOVE DOLLARS

In the way of patriotic business sentiment nothing finer has come out of the war than Otto H. Kahn's resolution not to seek an increase of wealth while hostilities continue, and Jacob H. Schiff's eloquent endorsement of the idea in the presence of the Jewish board of welfare work in the army and navy is equally commendable.

If the American people generally were to enter the conflict in such a spirit many of the most troublesome problems of the day would soon disappear. Time now wasted in controversy over a thousand things not essential to national welfare and victory would be saved, and there would be such an increase in material energy, to say nothing of moral force, as to be forever memorable.

Men who do not seek to add to their fortunes in a crisis like this know well enough that the possessions they now have are subject to all the vicissitudes of war, but the soldier and the sailor make the same renunciation as a matter of course, and in addition risk not only property, but life.

When nations set their minds upon great and worthy objects, personal gain counts for but little in comparison with the ends sought. Autocracy's wicked purpose has filled the earth with carnage. Democracy's triumph will be all the more complete and glorious if all its members find their profit in ideals rather than in dollars.—New York World.

GOOD FORTUNE

Friends of little Merna and Merle Kahler, and they have many in Greater Glendale, will be gratified to learn that the children have made such a hit at Pantages this week that Mr. Pantages has engaged both of them for the regular circuit at a joint salary said to be in the neighborhood of $250 a week. This is not bad pay for youngsters, though their heavy road expenses must be taken into account. Mrs. Kahler will accompany the children, who will be tutored daily, so they will not miss their schooling. As the children have received their training at the Pearl Keller School, their good fortune is quite naturally very gratifying to Mrs. Keller.

and other citizens present from Glendale and North Glendale tried to convince the said engineers that the proposed height of the bridge was not a necessity and did all they could to convince by argument the said engineers that the removal of obstructive piles would cause the channel under the new bridge to scour out and deepen, thus avoiding the necessity of the proposed height; but invariably and always the engineers met the arguments with facts and figures upholding the proposed height of the new bridge as a necessity. In other words the committee and citizens directly interested were very anxious that the height of the bridge be not above the present road bed of the Pacific Electric, at the same time not assuming the position of desiring a bridge that would prove unsafe and valueless by reason of a lack of sufficient clearance between it and the bed of the stream. The said engineers stated positively that they would not and could not recommend to the Supervisors the expenditure of the necessary money for the building of the bridge unless it be erected according to the prepared plans and specifications, which means at a height of 2.85 feet above the present grade of the Pacific Electric road bed at that point.

"Inasmuch as the necessity for the bridge is universally recognized as being very great and inasmuch as the discussion and consideration of the matter resulted in the one question whether or not the matter would be entirely dropped, or whether or not the bridge would be erected according to the plans prepared and advocated by the engineers, the committee adjourned to meet at the City Hall, Monday evening, the 17th inst. At that meeting a larger number of the citizens of North Glendale and a number of citizens of Glendale met with the committee and further considered the entire situation; and at that meeting a motion was made and passed without a negative vote (only one person not voting) that it was the sense of the meeting that the bridge be built according to the plans and specifications laid before the committee the week before by the engineers. The chairman asked all present to vote on that motion whether on the committee or not and all voted in the affirmative and not one voted in the negative, but one citizen of North Glendale did not vote at all.

"I believe this means that there will be no contest or division on the matter before the supervisors and that consequently the bridge will be erected as soon as reasonably possible."

HONOR TO OLD GLORY

patriotism stimulated by this occasion many hundreds of citizens of Greater Glendale will become from this time, members of the Red Cross. (Applause.)

The doctor then explained that the third flag, the Service Flag, made by pupils of the Intermediate School, could not be raised because of the absence of the teachers at the Los Angeles Institute and for that and other reasons its dedication would be deferred until after school opens. "This flag," said he, "will have a star for every Glendale boy who has gone to serve his country in any of the military branches. It will bear almost 200 stars, which is wonderful for a city of twelve or thirteen thousand people." (Applause.) "I think," he continued, "we are to have a little brass plate at the bottom of this pole stating that it was purchased as a reminder of the patriotism that has been manifested by two hundred young men who have gone into the service of their country to fight for freedom."

J. S. Thompson, president of the Board of Trustees, was then invited to the rostrum and the pole and flags were presented in the following words:

"On behalf of the citizens of Glendale and the local Red Cross Chapter, I hand to you as the official representative of this city, this flag pole and these flags, in the hope that you will guard and maintain them, and see that the patriotism that is stimulated by seeing them may be made manifest in your official acts."

In response President Thompson said it gave him great pleasure to accept the custody of the pole and flags and to guarantee that they would be kept in order as long as the City of Glendale should be in existence. He thanked the donors for the pole and flag and thanked Dr. Harrower for his promotion work. In conclusion he said: "Before it becomes necessary to renew this flag and put another in its place, I hope this war will be ended."

Bugler Robison again delighted the audience and Mrs. Herman West sang with fine effect "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. H. R. Boyer supplying the piano accompaniment.

Flag Raised

Then the flag was raised while all faces turned expectantly upward. When it was in its rightful place streaming in beauty from the summit of the pole, there was a burst of applause and then three rousing cheers and a tiger for Old Glory.

Doris Packer recited very prettily "Your Flag and My Flag," and then Comrade Norton was called upon for an address.

"Two thoughts," said he, "are uppermost in my mind. First the flag, and this beautiful ceremony, and second the significance of the flag. First of all, this flag stands for the prosecution of the war until it shall have accomplished its purpose of ending all wars. It stands for unity. It was born in righteousness and has been maintained through all the history of our country until it waves the proud emblem of liberty that promises freedom to the entire world."

"This is an earnest effort on our part to honor this flag. There is in this presence an occasion for joy, not in the fact that millions of men have been slain across the waters, but in the fact that our boys are going out under better conditions than ever surrounded any men who ever went to war in all the history of this world. (Applause.) There is an attempt on the part of the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Woman's Christian Association and the Knights of Columbus and the Red Cross to conserve the interest so that when our boys shall have gone and performed their duties, they will come back to us as many fellows as they went. (Applause.)"

"This meeting, to my thought, places the seal of approval on what was done from 1861 to 1865. (Applause.) Do you realize today that Old Glory in its magnificent and inspiring presence could not have been given under the conditions of the Old World? If you will look upon that field of blue and count the stars you will find there are forty-eight in that sisterhood of states and they are there together, with their combined influence and power because they were kept together when there was an attempt to dismember them. I am very certain there will never come a time in the history of this country when the memory of these men will not be held sacred for the service they have rendered. (Applause.)"

"We are here today rejoicing in the fact that we shall shortly see accomplished that for which our hearts are so deeply stirred. Democracy is in the ascendancy. Do you know that autocracy is crumbling to its grave and will sink so deeply that it will never have resurrection?" (Applause.)

At the conclusion of Comrade Norton's address the Boy Scouts came forward and led in the Salute to the Flag, the audience rising and joining in the salute. After that there were three more cheers and a tiger for Old Glory, and then as the conclusion of a beautiful program, "America," was sung, led by Dr. Harrower, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Boyer, and the big audience was dismissed.

God Bless the American Home

To this sentiment we can all echo a hearty amen, for Glendale is a City of Homes. Our hearts swell with pride as we view these rows upon rows of beautiful homes, our stately public buildings and churches, our substantial business houses in which are conducted the enterprises which give employment to scores of Glendale residents.
